“Implementing and Expanding your ECM
Solution: Lessons from the Road”

Presented by
Ryan Kelly

This session will look at the main components of a successful ECM deployment reflecting on experiences within the Department of Transportation TRIM implementation

Ryan Kelly is currently the Manager of Information Services with the Department of Justice, Government of Newfoundland and Labrador. Previous to holding this Position he was the Senior Information Management Analyst with the Department of Transportation and Works. During his time with Transportation and Works, Ryan focused heavily on the implementation of an electronic content management system to fit the complex and geographically dispersed nature of the Department. Ryan holds a degree in Political Science and History from Memorial University and is a current candidate for the Certified Records Manager Certification from the Institute of Certified Records Managers.
